

The Constitution of The Alliance

Preamble:

We the people, hereby and henceforth create an alliance governed by reason and fairness to organize into a society based on fairness, learning, open access, and sustainable development.

Article I - Name, Jurisdiction and Territory.

1. Our name shall be The Alliance.
2. This nation does not claim any existing recognized state, region, or country. Furthermore, we do not seek to secede from, or colonize, or annex any state, region, or country. Our jurisdiction starts from one member and extends to the next, extending only to the welfare and beneficial interest of the members.
3. The territory of this nation shall be legally purchased land, and property across the globe adhering to the laws of the governing bodies where these properties will be purchased.

Article II - Fundamental Human Rights and Freedom

1. All individuals, regardless of race, sex, gender, background shall have an inalienable right to life, liberty, speech, thought, association, and ownership of private property.
2. All individuals shall have the right to freedom. Freedom from bondage, slavery, and unfair and cruel subjugation.
3. No one shall inflict undue or cruel harm, or cause harm, or punishment to any animal. An agency shall be created to oversee animal rights, and investigate animal rights abuse cases.

Article III - Privacy and Transparency

1. This alliance shall be based on transparency as a foundation. All institutions and agencies, offices and bureaus shall follow strict transparency standards in their operations and affairs.
2. Transparency shall be expected from all members, across their affairs except for private life.

3. All information and data pertaining to individuals within their personal capacity remain private. The exception is made for alliance officials due to the burden of office.
4. The burden of office, set in place to discourage centralization of power, requires alliance officials to adhere to a higher and strict level of accountability and transparency. Any data collected during execution of alliance roles and responsibility falls under this burden of office.
5. All individuals shall be entitled to privacy to the point where such privacy does not endanger others, or infringe upon the rights of other individuals.

Article IV - Citizenship

The burden of responsibility within the alliance comes with the gifts of rights and freedoms. The implication is that members have an equal responsibility to the welfare of the alliance as the alliance has a responsibility to ensure members rights are protected.

1. Categories:
 - A. Level 1: These are individuals who serve the alliance on a full-time, continual basis. Apart from the founders, individuals must have served for at least a year within the alliance to be granted level 1 categorization.
 - B. Level 2: These individuals serve the alliance but not on a full-time, continual basis.
 - C. Level 3: Individuals who contribute on a minimal level.
 - D. Level 4: Individuals who agree with our vision but do not contribute and honorary citizens.
2. Access to alliance resources and official instruments will be restricted according to the level of citizenship.
3. Individuals must be 18+ to be eligible for citizenship.
4. Revoking citizenship/ loss of citizenship
 - A. Members can voluntarily revoke their citizenship or request to be categorized into a lower category but may not request to be categorized into a higher category without meeting the requirements.

- B. Members may lose citizenship for engaging in activities that cause harm to the alliance such as espionage, and sabotage, and treason. But activities like criticism, and membership in other groups, countries, or nations.

Article V - Leadership

This constitution shall be the highest governing body within the alliance.

The members shall duly elect from among themselves, through a direct voting system, a council to administer, oversee, and adjudicate the affairs of the alliance.

This council shall consist of two members representing each department of the alliance.

Any new departments must be added through a unanimous decision of council and approval from the members of the alliance through a referendum vote.

Members of council shall serve terms of 1 year.

Members may not serve in the same position consecutively.

Council shall set its own budget yearly and it shall be approved by the members of the alliance through the budget referendum vote.

Article VI Authority Auditor

There shall be an Authority Auditor to act as an anti-corruption commissioner and ombudsman empowered by this constitution to oversee and monitor the power, authority, and duties of the council.

The Authority Auditor shall report to the members of the alliance and in the course of his duties and official affairs be assisted by any official, office, department, and agency. Any document, tool, object, or testimony required by the Authority Auditor shall be provided to them. Except for any document, tool, object, or testimony falling under privacy laws.

The Authority Auditor shall set its own budget but it shall be approved by the members of the alliance yearly through the budget referendum vote.

Article VII Taxes

All members of the alliance shall have a duty to pay taxes to the alliance.

The council shall set the type of tax and the rate.

Taxes shall be used solely for the affairs of the alliance.

Transparency and accountability shall be required of all members who handle taxes, especially council members.

Changes to the taxes must be approved by members of the alliance through a tax referendum vote.

All members of the alliance, at a reasonable point in time when the alliance becomes self reliant, shall be entitled to these benefits from the alliance: free access to education, medical aid, insurance, a housing plan, and other benefits such as gainful employment.

The council may suspend but not remove these benefits and entitlements, by unanimous decision of council, and only if the provision of these benefits and entitlements reasonably and justifiably threaten the welfare of the alliance.

Under such a condition the council must provide their justifications to the supreme court, and if none exists then a benefits referendum vote shall be required.

Article VIII Judicial System

The alliance shall establish a court system to uphold and defend this constitution, and adjudicate the laws of the alliance.

However, the judicial system shall not be formed until the alliance reaches a membership of 100 000 individuals. Hence, it shall prevail in perpetuity or until a dissolution occurs.

Before the threshold is reached the council shall act as the judiciary.

The judicial system shall consist of a lower court system, a higher court system, and a supreme court which shall be the highest and senior.

All the courts shall be led by councils elected by the members of the alliance through direct voting.

The judiciary shall set its own budget and it shall be approved by the members of the alliance through the budget referendum vote.

Article IX Amendment and Dissolution

This constitution may be amended by a referendum vote.

Council may call an amendment referendum vote.

Members of the alliance may present a petition signed by no less than 51% of the members of alliance to the council upon which point council must call an amendment referendum vote.

Council may not call a dissolution referendum vote on its own.

A dissolution referendum vote may only be called when the members of the alliance present a petition signed by no less than 80% of the members of the alliance upon which point council must call a dissolution referendum vote.

A dissolution of the alliance will only come into force if a dissolution referendum vote has been called according to this constitution and only if the referendum results in a for dissolution vote of no less than 80%.

A dissolution referendum may only be called once per year.
